

The Building Bridges Project of the MCLS presents
Recommended Materials for Youth with Disabilities, Their Families and Support Staff
 Edited by Rhonda Miga, Project Consultant

Please consider this list “a work in progress.” It is impossible to include every material published on the following disability areas.

A special thank you is given to all the librarians and parents who took time to gather information and make recommendations. Due to space restraints, we regret that we cannot include all of your names. We regret if any of your recommendations were inadvertently left out. We welcome your input and/or recommendations for future publications.

This list focused on materials that have been published over the last five years. Some older materials have been included if contributors believed the resource continues to be of value to our readers or if current resources could not be found or were limited.

The list of materials available is extensive. Please refer to the following companies for additional materials not listed in this publication.
